The Problem

Planning a trip can be overwhelming—comparing flights, booking accommodations, and finding must-see attractions while staying on budget takes hours of research. With so much information available, it's easy to feel stuck or second-guess your choices.

The AI Solution

AI-powered tools can automate your travel planning, find the best deals, and provide real-time recommendations to help you make the most of your trip—saving you hours of research.

Step-by-Step Guide: Use AI to Plan Your Next Trip

1. Find the Best Flights and Hotels

- Use Google Gemini, Kayak Explore AI, or Skyscanner AI to discover the cheapest flights and accommodations based on your budget, travel dates, and preferences.
- Sample Prompt: "Act as a travel agent. Find me the best round-trip flights from Los Angeles to Paris in May under $800. Do not include flights with more than 1 stop"

2. Get a Personalized Itinerary in Seconds

- Let AI create a customized travel plan based on your interests. Try this detailed prompt in ChatGPT, Google Gemini, or another AI tool:
- "I'm traveling to Paris for five days. Create a detailed itinerary that includes food recommendations, sightseeing, and hidden gems. Include morning, afternoon, and evening activities, plus travel times between locations."

3. Track Prices and Get AI-Powered Alerts

- Use Hopper or Google Flights to receive real-time alerts when flight or hotel prices drop.
- Try: "Track flights from New York to Tokyo for the next 90 days and notify me when prices drop below $1,000."

4. Get Local Tips and Live Updates While Traveling

- AI chatbots like GuideGeek or Trip.com's AI Assistant can provide last-minute recommendations and real-time updates on weather, transportation, and events.
- Ask: "Find the best local restaurant near the Eiffel Tower that takes walk-ins and serves authentic French cuisine."
